

Black Militarists Get U.S. Funds

By Jack Anderson

The federal government has granted $523,000 to a bizarre black paramilitary group which the Anti-Defamation League contends is using the money to build up an anti-Semitic mercenary army.

The group's flamboyant commander, Col. Hassan Jeru-Ahmed, denies his Blackman's Volunteer Army of Liberation is against the Jews.

The government is paying him to rehabilitate narcotics addicts. Military discipline is necessary, he contends, to keep them in line. They get close-order drill, he says, but no weapons training.

The taxpayers' $523,000 contribution assertedly will go to teach them such peaceful pursuits as carpentry and clerking. This will begin Thursday in a converted commissary building in Washington and on a farm in Spotsylvania County, Va.

The Anti-Defamation League says Hassan intends to run the farm as a military camp, complete with small-arms training and guerrilla exercises.

Hassan swears no guns are being taken to the farm. The Blackman's Army's only weapons, he says, are handguns kept on the premises to repel drug racketeers. Yet his chief of staff, Maj. Jamal, recently received a 30-day sentence after he dropped a pistol while passing out literature on Capitol Hill.

Private Prison

The handsome Hassan, whose hair rises from his broad brow like a shock of white wheat, keeps his army under iron discipline. To enforce it, he administers beatings and imposes short-term imprisonment in his own private jail cell.

My associate, Les Whitten, called on Hassan in his "chancery" where black-shirted guards protect him and wire window screens are designed to ward off hand grenades.

He wants to go to Africa at the head of his Blackman's Army. "We won't force anyone to go, of course," he said. "We're in touch with five African nations."

He has spoken tentatively with officials of Nigeria, Zambia, Ghana, Tanzania and, before its downfall, Biafra, about giving his artisan-addict-soldiers a home in the vague future. "Maybe it will be five years, maybe ten, maybe more," He shrugged.

Hassan not only has his own army but his own government, a paper nation that he calls "The Provisional Government of the United Moorish Republic." His troopers swear an "oath of allegiance" to his mythical republic.

Since the United States gives aid to other governments, Hassan sees no inconsistency in accepting a $523,000 U.S. grant for his

United Moorish Republic. But the United States, which doesn't recognize Hassan's paper government, pays the half-million bucks to the Blackman's Development Center. He receives over $100,000 a year, additionally from foundations, unions, civic organizations, businesses, churches and individuals.

The amazing Hassan collects still another $169,000 from Washington's Narcotics Treatment Administration to fight heroin through methadone detoxification. Many hard-headed government officials and narcotics experts, though aware of Hassan's private army, insist to us he is doing worthwhile work.

FBI and Xerox

The FBI has tried unsuccessfully to get the Xerox Corporation to provide a sample copy from thousands of its clients' machines so the FBI can find out who duplicated its recently stolen documents.

The company, however, did agree to furnish the FBI's Buffalo, N. Y., office a list of all clients who rent its "860" series copying machines, one of which was apparently used to run off the stolen papers.

The documents, stolen from the FBI office at Media, Pa., and sent anonymously to several newspapers, revealed extensive FBI surveillance of dissidents in accepting a black and student activist groups.

Gerard Mulligan, a spokesman for Xerox, said that in addition to the client list, the FBI wanted the company to have its service representatives make an extra, blank copy on every machine they inspected during their regular service calls.

Mulligan explained that every Xerox copy, even the blank ones, have uniform distinguishing markings by which it would be possible to trace an individual copy to the machine which produced it.

He said the markings are caused by slight differences in the surfaces of the internal "drums" on which the copies are printed. The extra blank copies requested were to be turned over to the FBI.

However, Mulligan said, "The top management considered the request and decided against it. What came down to was the ethical responsibilities of the business."

"If we were to do this," he added, "we had a responsibility to inform our customers it was being done and this would have defeated the FBI's whole purpose."

Mulligan said the request for the client list came several days before the FBI tried to enlist the service department. He said the list was provided because the company felt it was the kind of information a government investigative agency could eventually have obtained by subpoena anyway.

April 16, 1971

Mr. Joseph C. Wilson, Chairman
The Xerox Corporation
Xerox Square
Rochester, New York 14603

Dear Mr. Wilson:

The report of your company's non-cooperation with a duly-constituted authority charged with responsibilities in maintaining internal and public security, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as contained in the attached copy of a syndicated news column, disturbs me greatly. I cannot refrain from registering my distress--not to say outright anger--by means of this letter. I hasten to add, before going further, that I am not an employee of the Bureau nor of any branch of the government.

I for one simply cannot comprehend how any law-abiding citizen or corporate entity fails to see it as a duty, and a cheerful duty, to assist any law-enforcement agency, when called upon, in detecting law-breakers. I repeat, I cannot understand it on any basis except one of ill-will, on the part of those withholding co-operation, toward constituted authority, our form of government, and our very society.

Since what date has there been an "ethical responsibility" to protect the guilty? I refer to a statement attributed to Mr. Gerard Mulligan.

You may be sure that I will be as careful as I can be to see that no dollar spent by me goes to enlarge the revenues of the Xerox Corporation. Since your company has taken its stand on the side of the society-destroyers, I must take my stand against it.

Disappointedlly yours,

Several discussions were held during the afternoon of April 30, 1971, with Deputy Assistant Attorney General Kevin Maroney, Internal Security Division, relative to the possibility of obtaining a search warrant for the premises of "Resist" in Cambridge, Massachusetts. "Resist," a militant antiwar, antiestablishment group has acted as the intermediary in distributing several packets of copies of documents stolen from the FBI Resident Agency in Media, Pennsylvania. Our Boston source has advised that the people in "Resist" are in the process of releasing a fifth packet of copies of stolen documents. According to a release dated April 29, 1971, which was obtained by the source (a cooperative janitor in the building), the documents were Xerox copies of copies received from an anonymous source earlier during the week. As late as this morning, two Boston Agents without trespass were able to view individuals stuffing envelopes with folded papers resembling the size of stolen documents. u

In addition, a highly valuable source of our Philadelphia Office had previously reported [redacted] had transported original stolen FBI documents from Baltimore, Maryland, to Cambridge, Massachusetts during early April. u

Mr. Maroney indicated it would be necessary in an application for a search warrant that we show a connection between "Resist" and the transfer of documents from Baltimore to Cambridge, Massachusetts. u

Philadelphia and Boston have been advised of the above. Philadelphia is recontacting the informant in order to determine if additional information is available along the lines discussed above. The captioned investigation is being handled on an extremely special basis as a result of the burglary of the Resident Agency at Media, Pennsylvania, on the night of 3-8-71. u

SAC Roy K. Moore of the Jackson Office has been sent to the Philadelphia Division for the specific purpose of taking personal charge of the investigation. Two other Agents from the Jackson Division and one from the Indianapolis Division have also been sent to Philadelphia on the same special assignment in accordance with the specific request of SAC Moore. Ninety Agents are assigned full time to the MEDBURG special: 86 Philadelphia Division Agents, three Jackson Division Agents (including SAC Moore), and one Indianapolis Division Agent. The Bureau has sent 20 Agents on special assignment to Philadelphia to assume the work load of those Agents in Philadelphia who have been placed full time on this special (ten from New York, five from Baltimore, five from Newark). u

SAC, Philadelphia, with agreement of SAC Moore, by airtel of 4-14-71, states that the Agents actually working on MEDBURG will be assigned to work shifts as follows: Monday through Friday, 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. or 12 noon to 11 p. m.; Saturday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. and 12 noon to 8 p. m.; Sunday, 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. This would involve five workdays of 11 hours each and a total work-week of 67 hours. In addition, because of the pressure of the MEDBURG special and the reduced availability of manpower for regular duties, it is proposed that all other Philadelphia Division Agents be put on shifts as follows: Monday through Friday, 8 a. m. to 7 p. m.; Saturday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.; Sunday, 2 p. m. to 6 p. m. These shifts will involve more than eight hours per day or 40 hours per week on an officially scheduled basis. u

Present legislation and regulations provide that if an employee is officially scheduled for over eight hours in a workday or over 40 hours in a work-week, he must be paid for the excess hours on an overtime basis. In addition, certain of these shifts, either in whole or in part, would be eligible under the same regulations for related night and/or Sunday differential with the exception of SAC Jamieson and SAC Moore who are ineligible because of grade and salary. The Agents involved have been receiving premium pay "fringe benefits" for irregular, unscheduled overtime. u

The institution of the work schedules mentioned above would place all Agents in the Philadelphia Division, both assigned and there on special assignment, on a regularly scheduled overtime week. It would not be logical to expect them to perform sufficient additional overtime to qualify for fringe. It is noted that the overtime pay which would accrue from the work shifts mentioned above would be considerably more than that now received as fringe pay for unscheduled overtime, and they would suffer no financial loss. SAC, Philadelphia, recommends that the shifts mentioned above be placed in effect effective Sunday, 4-18-71, and that effective that same date the Agents involved be removed from the fringe benefit pay for unscheduled overtime. u

This has been discussed with General Investigative Division and they have no objection to this work schedule proposal as SAC Moore and SAC Jamieson consider it necessary. u

The additional cost to the Bureau if these work shifts as set out above are placed in effect is estimated as follows, using an Agent in the first step of GS-13 as the basis for calculation. The pay period officially assigned would total 134 hours. Anything over 80 hours must be considered at overtime rate, therefore, 54 hours would be overtime. The overtime pay rate is one and one half times the regular rate until the first step of GS-10 is reached, where it stabilizes at $8.31 per hour and remains at that figure thereafter. It is estimated that each Agent would average during a pay period 30 hours for which night differential would be payable (85¢ per hour) and would also have 8 hours total on the two Sundays in the pay period for which Sunday differential would be payable ($2.14 per hour). There would be 238 Agents involved (215 regularly assigned and 23 on special assignment from other divisions) for a total gross estimated cost increase of $116,943.68 per two week period. There would be a savings resulting from removing these Agents from fringe pay of $110.40 per Agent per pay period or a total of $26,275.20 which would reduce the gross cost figure above to an estimated net cost per pay period of $90,668.48. u

RECOMMENDATIONS:

1) That the work shifts set out above for the men engaged on the MEDBURG special and those either permanently assigned or on special assignment to the Philadelphia Division be approved effective 4-18-71. u

Memo Adams to Callahan
RE: MEDBURG

2) If the above is approved, that these Agents be placed on a regularly scheduled overtime week as indicated above and be removed from fringe benefits effective 4-18-71, for the duration of the time in which these work shifts are necessary. If you agree, there is attached an airtel to SAC, Philadelphia, advising of approval and issuing necessary instructions. u

FBI INVESTIGATES 14-YEAR-OLD, A FATHER AND A WIFE

BY BILL WINGELL

A University of Pennsylvania faculty member whose 14-year-old son visited an East German youth camp was investigated by the FBI, according to a document newly surfaced from the stolen files of the FBI's office in Media.

The purported FBI document shows that the bureau began a probe of Herbert Lansing Shore, 46, director of performing arts at the University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School of Communications, as a result of a visit by his son, Norman Jon, to East Germany's "International Pioneer Republic" youth camp last July.

Written on FBI stationery and labeled "Secret - No Foreign Dissemination," the report on Shore was one of a dozen new files sent to this reporter by the Citizens Commission to Investigate the FBI, the group which raided the FBI's suburban Media office March 8.

The Justice Department concedes that at least 800 documents were stolen from the office. At this point, more than 40 have been distributed to the press and selected organizations and individuals by the Citizens Commission.

The document on Shore indicates that letters from him to his son at the East German camp and from his son to other persons were intercepted by U.S. military intelligence in West Germany.

Shore, according to the report, contacted his son "to tell subject of the physical and emotional well-being of Mom, who presumably is the subject's mother."

In a telephone interview, Shore confirmed that he had written such a letter to his son. "When he left, his mother was ill and I wrote him to tell him his mother had recovered," Shore said.

The subject's father, according to an FBI report, contacted his son "to tell subject of the physical and emotional well-being of Mom, who presumably is the subject's mother."

"I think it's a sad commentary on this country that this kind of surveillance can take place, that there is this paranoia because a kid goes to camp in a socialist country," the father said. "Are they now going to investigate Mr. Nixon because of his interest in China?" he asked.

Shore said that in connection with his work in the theater he had visited East Germany and other countries and everybody at school knows about it. He said that between 1965 and 1969 he was on the staff of the University of East Africa in Tanzania, first as a consultant and then as a professor of theater.

He said his son attended the East German youth camp twice, the first visit occurring while the family was living in Tanzania. It was an international camp with kids from all over the world taking part in all kinds of sports and cultural activities, Shore said.

"We have always believed in a total free exchange of ideas and experience," Shore said. He described himself as a socialist philosophically, but said he belonged to no political party. He has resigned his post at the University of Pennsylvania effective in June, he said, in order to return to his own artistic work.

The FBI document on Shore named the university's personnel records officer, Mrs. Effie Thompson — with the word "protect" appearing after her name — as the source of a report that "there is an extensive file" on the staff member. Will review the personnel file of Herbert Lansing Shore, report same and recommend action, the FBI file noted.

In a telephone interview, Mrs. Thompson denied being an FBI source and insisted that her office does not maintain personal data files on university personnel. "This is ridiculous — there's not a word of truth in it," Mrs. Thompson said. "I have nothing to do with the FBI."

As for the bureau's "case" on the son — listed as FBI file number 105-17903 — the FBI document noted that it "should be closed inasmuch as the individual is only 14 years old."

Another document outlines FBI procedures for what is termed the "development of selected contacts" — in other words, informants — among persons in industry planning to visit Sino-Soviet bloc countries or to attend international meetings where individuals from such countries might be present.

If an agent finds such a person has "potential for possible development as an informant under the DESECO program," the document states, he should proceed according to Pages 33-35 in the FBI's "Manual of Instructions."

The new files also contained a document revealing FBI surveillance of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom (WILPF), which has its national office in Philadelphia.

Addressed to FBI director J. Edgar Hoover from "SAC (special agent in charge), Philadelphia," the file was entitled "Communist Infiltration of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom." It was dated September 24, 1965.

Advising that "PH 27-S, who has furnished reliable information in the past," had told of the WILPF's upcoming 50th anniversary meeting, the document went on to note that the organization's newsletter "reflected that Martin Luther King Jr. will address the 50th anniversary banquet." The file also cited a list of nominees for the group's national board "together with biographical data."

Mrs. Katharine Camp, 52, president of WILPF's U.S. section and one of those included in the file, was told about the document by this reporter. "This kind of super-sleuthing would be ludicrous were it not so serious a matter," Mrs. Camp responded.

"Of course the WILPF would be considered a threat to a society operating by the cloak and dagger because we are for an open society for freedom," Mrs. Camp stressed. "We recognize that civil liberties are in a precarious condition these days because we don't have a genuinely civil society. They are eroded in a warfare state."

Additional files dealing with

Swarthmore College were made available to this reporter in the past week by the Swarthmore student newspaper, The Phoenix, which had received them directly from the Citizens Commission.

The documents told of surveillance of Swarthmore students, including Cindy Bertrand, 21-year-old daughter of Charles E. Bertrand, president of the Reading Company, operator of the Reading Railroad.

"Subject is a member of Labor Committee in Philadelphia, Pa., and is allegedly a student at Swarthmore College," the file on Miss Bertrand noted. "Will review Swarthmore records for all background re subject" and "will conduct credit and criminal checks," the document continued.

In a telephone interview, Miss Bertrand confirmed that she had been a member of the labor committee but said she now was a member of a splinter group, the Socialist Labor Committee.

She said she "really wasn't surprised" about the FBI's investigation of her, noting that "the labor committee has been framed in the past by the Philadelphia police department, which led me to believe that members of our organization were under surveillance either by the Civil Disobedience Squad or the FBI."

Miss Bertrand described her political activity as "working for a socialist reindustrialization at capitalist expense — which means expropriation of the defense-aerospace sector of the economy and utilization of that capital for productive use, such as mass transit, schools, hospitals."

"Railroads would also be improved under that program," the student noted, and they would then "be run by society as a whole."

And what does her father, a railroad president, think of her proposals? she was asked. "He's conservative politically and doesn't agree with my politics,"

Miss Bertrand replied. "I haven't convinced him yet."

Told that this reporter had not been able to reach her father for comment, Miss Bertrand remarked: "He's pretty pissed off. He's not talking to anybody."

FBI EVEN DID CREDIT CHECKS

New documents on the FBI's surveillance of Swarthmore student Jacqueline Reuss emerged last week even as her father, Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wisc., an outspoken Vietnam war critic, was calling on President Nixon to set up a commission to investigate the bureau.

Three new files on Miss Reuss, a 21-year-old Swarthmore senior, were sent to the school newspaper, The Phoenix. Earlier, the student had told this reporter that she knew she had been under investigation for what she termed "the typical sort of thing — leftist activities."

The new documents showed the extent to which the student's background was probed. They told of checks on her made with the CIA, the Milwaukee police sheriff's office and credit bureau, the Philadelphia police department and two Philadelphia informers.

Meanwhile in Washington, Miss Reuss's father, a nine-term member of the House, made public a letter to President Nixon in which he urged the chief executive to establish a commission to investigate the FBI.

"Public confidence in the bureau has been shaken in recent days by fragmentary reports of activities and attitudes of the bureau and its chief, J. Edgar Hoover, which on the surface seem inimical to the American tradition," Reuss wrote.

He suggested that Republican Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine be named to head the inquiry. — B.W.

Sometimes Without Their Knowledge

FBI Files Reveal Relatives Used as Informants

By Betty Medsger
Washington Post Staff Writer

Additional stolen documents reveal that the Federal Bureau of Investigation uses relatives of persons under surveillance as informants, sometimes without their knowing they are dealing with the FBI.

A mother in Drexel Hill, Pa., was called by an agent who said he was a friend of her daughter. She provided details about her daughter's present work and background, according to one document.

Another document implies that an informant suggested that the wife of a Black Panther leader in Philadelphia be asked to provide the FBI with information about her husband.

An informant recommended on Jan. 22, according to the document, that the Black Panther's wife be "contacted" because she "is very angry at her husband now and may be receptive."

There is no indication whether the FBI or its informant followed the suggestion. Nor is there any indication why the man was under surveillance.

Reached by phone yesterday, the woman said she had never knowingly been asked to provide information to the FBI.

Of the nine documents received by The Washington Post yesterday, three were duplicates of documents received earlier from the Citizens Commission on Investigation of the FBI. All of the different documents, some of them partial, have been distributed by the group.

The Citizens Commission, through an anonymous statement accompanying the documents, it has distributed, has taken responsibility for the March 8 raid on the FBI's Media, Pa., office.

Justice Department sources here confirmed the authenticity of the first group of documents sent out by the thieves and said more than 1,000 documents had been stolen in the raid.

A statement accompanying the latest set said the documents have been sent to Sens. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D-N.C.) and Charles McC. Mathias Jr. (R-Md.). It previously was reported that they had been received by Sen. George McGovern (D-S.D.) and Rep. Parren J. Mitchell (D-Md.).

Jacqueline Reuss, daughter of Rep. Henry S. Reuss, a Wisconsin Democrat who is opposed to the Vietnam war, was under FBI surveillance, according to one of the stolen documents, as reported yesterday in a news story from Boston.

The mother of the young woman from Drexel Hill, Pa., was called Nov. 20, 1970, by Special Agent James L. O'Connor, according to one document.

His call to her is described in the document as "a pretext telephone call." Elaborating, the document says, "pretext of a friend passing through Philadelphia, Pa." The document continues:

"Subject's mother informed that subject is presently working."

An individual who identified himself as [redacted] of columnist Jack Anderson's office telephoned my office this afternoon and spoke to [redacted]. [redacted] said that he had been talking to an individual affiliated with the Xerox Corporation and had determined that repair teams of the Xerox Corporation have been obtaining drum markings from the various Xerox machines, which machines may have been utilized to run off copies of documents stolen from the FBI's office in Media, Pennsylvania. [redacted] said that virtually all machines were being checked. He said that this information is coming from a person in a position to know the facts of the matter. He would not identify this person.

[redacted] asked for a verification of the above and comments from the FBI. He was advised that the FBI would have no comment.

Remytel to Bureau, Philadelphia, and Newark dated

4/17/71. u

Enclosed herewith for the Bureau is one (1) copy, for Philadelphia eight (8) copies and for Newark one (1) copy of an FD-302 setting forth results of interview with [redacted]

Suspect's parents, [redacted] were interviewed several weeks ago with respect to suspect's activities. They advised at that time she has been affiliated with local Peace organization for the past year or more. She is acquainted with persons from the Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington areas; however, her parents did not know the identities of these persons. She has been absent from her home on three occasions during the period since October, 1970. In October, she traveled to Washington, D. C., where she remained for a period of six weeks, reportedly doing inner-city work with a religious order of Catholic nuns in that area. She next traveled to Boston in February, 1971, where she reportedly attended the trial of a Conscientious Objector. She briefly returned to her parents' home until 3/7/71, when she again left, reportedly to visit with friends in New York City. Her parents heard from her once by telephone when she allegedly called from the residence of a friend in The Bronx, New York, and by letter, which was postmarked Flushing, New York. Her mother advised that upon her daughter's return to Rochester, New York, she would have her contact the FBI.

Subsequent to the interview with the parents, [] was again contacted, at which time she said that her daughter had called from somewhere in New Jersey. Suspect was not any more specific as to her whereabouts or what she had been doing. She told her mother that she had not been involved in any illegal activities. u

Newark later advised that [] had been located at Princeton, New Jersey, where she had been staying with [] who operated a Resistance Bookstore and were suspects in the Media case. u

On 4/16/71, [] contacted the Rochester RA in compliance to her mother's instructions, and agreed to talk to Agents on the following day. u

Bureau, Philadelphia, and Newark were telephonically contacted to alert them to latest developments relating to []. Authority was granted to proceed with the contact on the following day. u

b6
b7C

On 4/17/71, SAs [] and [] located [] at her parents' home. They identified themselves and were invited by [] into the house. No one else was present during the interview. u

At the outset of the interview, she was advised of her rights and furnished with a Waiver of Rights form, which she read and refused to sign. u

It was then made clear to her that the Agents wished to talk to her about her activities since she left Rochester 3/7/71, as well as her sympathies toward local peace organizations and break-ins at Federal Buildings. u

She thereupon advised that she did not want to talk about any of these things. She even refused to admit to any occupation. u

She advised she would willingly sit there and discuss the Vietnam War with the Agents, who declined to enter into such a discussion. u

She commented she did not approve of certain investigations conducted by the FBI, supposedly referring to investigation of organizations engaged in anti-war, anti-draft activity. She said that she respected the FBI; and at the conclusion expressed her displeasure with Agents contacting her parents and upsetting them. She also asked if it would be possible to come to the FBI office to review her own file. u

When asked if she would be at her parents' home on the following week, she implied she would not but she would give no indication of her immediate plans. u

[] was cordial, but she made it clear to the Agents that the only reason for contacting them was expressly at the request of her mother. She would not have voluntarily called and said she hoped there would be no further need to contact her parents. She is obviously well indoctrinated with anti-war sentiments similar to those expressed by BERRIGANS. u

No further contact with [] is planned at this time. u

This is in reference to Buffalo teletype dated April 19, 1971, attached, wherein it was indicated Xerox Corporation has advised it will cooperate fully with FBI and honor all requests for assistance in the investigation of Medburg. (SEE ATTACHMENT)

Physical evidence obtained at the crime scene was meager--two latent palm prints and markings on door locks indicating lockpicking attempt. When the Xerox copies of the stolen FBI serials first surfaced on weekend of March 20, 1971, immediate contact made with Xerox officials both in Philadelphia and in Rochester, New York, in order to determine the model Xerox copier utilized. Xerox technicians identified the copier as a Model 660 and shortly thereafter it was determined the reproduced FBI stolen documents bore significant markings by which the suspect copier could be identified by comparative examination. Immediate investigation to locate copier was initiated concentrating in the Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and Princeton, New Jersey, areas (surfaced material initially bore such postmarkings). Investigation was subsequently broadened to include Boston, Baltimore, Washington, D. C., and New Haven. Xerox personnel through agreement with Xerox officials, Rochester, New York, were utilized to obtain sample copies in those instances where leasees were known to be uncooperative such as colleges, universities, religious and social groups turning them over to the FBI for comparative examination by the FBI Laboratory in order to determine if they were made by the copier used to reproduce stolen FBI documents.

The paucity of physical evidence lends tremendous importance to the identification of the Xerox equipment which is being used by the subjects. Within the past two days Xerox Corporation has advised our Philadelphia Office that examination of some of the material indicates copies have been reproduced on a larger Xerox copier--Model 2400. These copies are identifiable as to the particular machine on which they were reproduced. Customer lists for this model volunteered by the Xerox Corporation are being obtained in order that investigation may be conducted to identify it. u

Result of examination:

Specimen Q187 is an additional copy of Q157 and Q164, previously submitted in this case.

The typewriter impressions on Q186 and Q187 most closely resemble the Laboratory standard for Ransmayer style of type. This same style of type was used in the preparation of Q156, Q157 and some other specimens previously submitted in this case. The submitted copies are not sufficiently legible for detailed typewriter examinations to be made. Therefore, it could not be determined whether the same typewriter was used in the preparation of all specimens having Ransmayer style of type.

The submitted copies appear to be additional copies prepared on the SCM copier. No indented writing of value, watermarks, or other marks which would indicate the immediate source of this material were noted on the submitted specimens.

The stamps on Q186 are from a sheet of stamps.

The submitted evidence will be returned separately.
Photographs are retained.

The typewriter impressions on Q168 and Q169 most closely resemble the Laboratory standards for IBM Selectric Script style of type. This style of type was not used on questioned specimens previously submitted in this case.

The copies, Q170 through Q184, appear to be copied on the SCM copier. No indented writing of value was noted on the submitted evidence. The stamps on the envelope, Q168, are from a coil of stamps.

The submitted evidence will be returned separately. Photographs are retained.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Black Militarists Get U.S. Funds

D-15

By Jack Anderson.

The federal government has granted $523,000 to a bizarre black paramilitary group which the Anti-Defamation League contends is using the money to build up an anti-Semitic mercenary army.

The group's flamboyant commander, Col. Hassan Jeru Ahmed, denies his Blackman's Volunteer Army of Liberation is against the Jews.

The government is paying him to rehabilitate narcotics addicts. Military discipline is necessary, he contends, to keep them in line. They get close-order drill, he says, but no weapons training.

The taxpayers' $523,000 contribution assertedly will go to teach them such peaceful pursuits as carpentry and clerking. This will begin Thursday in a converted commissary building in Washington and on a farm in Spotsylvania County, Va.

The Anti-Defamation League says Hassan intends to run the farm as a military camp complete with small-arms training and guerrilla exercises.

Hassan swears no guns are being taken to the farm. The Blackman's Army's only weapons, he says, are handguns kept on the premises to repel drug racketeers. Yet his chief of staff, Maj. Jamal, recently received a 30-day sentence after he dropped a pistol while passing out literature on Capitol Hill.

Private Prison

The handsome Hassan, whose hair rises from his broad brow like a shock of white wheat, keeps his army under iron discipline. To enforce it, he administers beatings and imposes short-term imprisonment in his own private jail cell.

My associate, Les Whitten, called on Hassan in his "chancery" where black-shirted guards protect him and wire window screens are designed to ward off hand grenades.

He wants to go to Africa at the head of his Blackman's Army. "We won't force anyone to go, of course," he said. "We're in touch with five African nations."

He has spoken tentatively with officials of Nigeria, Zambia, Ghana, Tanzania and, before its downfall, Biafra, about giving his artisan-addict-soldiers a home in the vague future. "Maybe it will be five years, maybe ten, maybe more," He shrugged.

Hassan not only has his own army but his own government, a paper nation that he calls "The Provisional Government of the United Moorish Republic." His troopers swear an "oath of allegiance" to his mythical republic.

Since the United States gives aid to other governments, Hassan sees no incon-$523,000 U.S. grant for his

United Moorish Republic. But the United States, which doesn't recognize Hassan's paper government, pays the half-million bucks to the Blackman's Development Center. He receives over $100,000 a year additionally from foundations, unions, civic organizations, businesses, churches and individuals.

The amazing Hassan collects still another $169,000 from Washington's Narcotics Treatment Administration to fight heroin through methadone detoxification. Many hard-headed government officials and narcotics experts, though aware of Hassan's private army, insist to us he is doing worthwhile work.

FBI and Xerox

The FBI has tried unsuccessfully to get the Xerox Corporation to provide a sample copy from thousands of its clients' machines, so the FBI can find out who duplicated its recently stolen documents.

The company, however, did agree to furnish the FBI's Buffalo, N. Y., office a list of all clients who rent its "660" series copying machines, one of which was apparently used to run off the stolen papers.

The documents, stolen from the FBI office at Media, Pa., and sent anonymously to several newspapers, revealed extensive FBI surveillance of sistance in accepting a black and student activist groups.

Gerard Mulligan, a spokesman for Xerox, said that in addition to the client list, the FBI wanted the company to have its service representatives make an extra blank copy on every machine they inspected during their regular service calls.

Mulligan explained that every Xerox copy, even the blank ones, have uniform distinguishing markings by which it would be possible to trace an individual copy to the machine which produced it.

He said the marking are caused by slight differences in the surfaces of the internal "drums" on which the copies are printed. The extra blank copies requested were to be turned over to the FBI.

However, Mulligan said the top management considered the request and decided against it. What is came down to was the ethical responsibilities of the business.

"If we were to do this," he added, "we had a responsibility to inform our customers it was being done and this would have defeated the FBI's whole purpose."

Mulligan said the request for the client list came several days before the FBI tried to enlist the service department. He said the list was provided because the company felt it was the kind of information a government investigative agency could eventually have obtained by subpoena anyway.
